

Paint No More, Comes to New York State

I don't think this one needs much in the way of an introduction, and in fact, I'd simply say, troops, attack! Any POCI member, and ANY Vehicle Owner in the humphire State, needs to call their State Legislator A.S.A.P., and explain to them how this Bill will kill the automotive hobby in the State of New York, do virtually nothing to clean the air, and stifle a small, but lucrative part of the automotive aftermarket.

I'd call this, Paint No More, Comes to New York."

Hello,

chiefmanyhorses has just posted in the Legislative Affairs forum of Pontiac-Oakland Club International Forums - POCI.org under the title of Bill Aimed at Cutting Off Paint Supply to our hobby!.

Here is the message that has just been posted:

If this bill get's passed in N.Y., it's just a matter of time before it spreads to all of our states! Is this America?

Bill Aimed at Cutting Off Paint Supply to Unlicensed Shops

9/15/2010 12:24:28 PM

A bill introduced in the New York Assembly, AB 9490, targets unlicensed body shops by making it illegal for them to purchase professional automotive refinishes. The bill prohibits suppliers from selling automotive refinish material labeled "for professional use only" unless the purchaser is considered a repair provider under state and local laws.

The bill's purpose is to prevent the use of hazardous materials by unauthorized individuals and also inhibit the operations of illegal shops, according to a legislative summary.

"Sales tax revenues previously lost due to repairs being performed by unregistered 'backyard' repair shops would be realized when those repairs are done at licensed and registered repair facilities," the summary states.
